

Industry

---

Norwegian industry has traditionally been commodity-oriented, but has gradually established companies within a variety of industries based on advanced technology and expertise. Vista Analysis has analyzed the future prospects of individual industries, evaluated policy instruments, including measures to encourage technology development and green growth, undertaken competitive policy analyses and analyzed regional economic and macroeconomic effects of start-ups and restructuring. We have in recent years worked on projects in areas such as the mineral industry, the information industry, the maritime industry, the processing industry and the food industry.